O valiant hearts who to your glory came through dust of conflict and through battle flame;
tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved,
your memory hallowed in the land you loved.

Proudly you gathered, rank on rank, to war
as who had heard God's message from afar;
all you had hoped for, all you had, you gave,
to save mankind - yourselves you scorned to save.

Long years ago, as earth lay dark and still,
rose a loud cry upon a lonely hill,
while in the frailty of our human clay,
Christ, our Redeemer, passed the self-same way.

Still stands his Cross from that dread hour to this,
like some bright star above the dark abyss;
still, through the veil, the Victor's pitying eyes look down to bless our lesser Calvaries.

O risen Lord, O Shepherd of our dead, whose cross has bought them and whose staff has led,
in glorious hope their proud and sorrowing land commits her children to thy gracious hand.

Quote of the Week :

They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun
and in the morning
We will remember them.
From a poem For the Fallen by Robert Laurence Binyon published in The Times newspaper on 21st September 1914
