Dear Parishioners

This weekend, Palm Sunday, we begin the celebration of Holy Week, the most important week in the Church's year. This year we may well feel that the Passion and Crucifixion of Christ is very relevant to our own spiritual lives as, at the moment, we cannot attend mass or go to confession. Many people have shared with us by telephone or email how they feel a sense of spiritual pain and this is quite understandable. However, let us for a moment think about the bigger picture and how this rather different Holy Week can be a time of great prayer and reflection for us. We must continue to place at the centre of all our thoughts and prayers those affected by the coronavirus and all those who are caring for them most especially in our health service. There are two good opportunities during Holy Week for us to pray for these intentions. The first is the watching on Holy Thursday. Watching will be live-streamed from St Joseph's until 10.00 pm. Please do use this time to gather as families for a few moments to pray for an end to the pandemic and for the healing and health of all those affected. The second opportunity is during the Liturgy of Good Friday when during the Universal Prayers we will add an extra formal prayer for those affected by the pandemic.

Following on from Holy Thursday we will celebrate the Easter Vigil. This year the Easter Vigil, in fact all the Triduum ceremonies will be much simpler, but the moment when we light the Paschal Candle is a moment of huge significance this year. This year despite the dark effect that the coronavirus has had on our lives we can rejoice that the light of Christ continues to shine in that darkness. The light of that candle shines for us all to see, it reminds us of our baptism, it reminds us of the precious gift of our faith, it reminds us that Christ is risen from the dead, he is the light of the world.

At the moment we are in a passion experience but as each day passes, we come closer to the resurrection. We pray that in the months ahead our world will be free of the coronavirus pandemic and we all truly experience a resurrection centred on Jesus Christ, the light of the world who is risen from the dead. May God be with us all this Holy Week.

Every blessing, Fr Andy.

A Reflection on Palm Sunday

A Palm Sunday without palms! A strange introduction to our usual Holy Week. Perhaps we might still have a palm from last year, tucked behind a picture or crucifix at home. Why not have that to hand when you watch the live-streamed Mass this Sunday?

This year we are called to receive Jesus with nothing in our hands, with none of the usual familiar practices as we share our virtual Liturgy, that normally involves us as Church, comforting, strengthening and feeding us spiritually. This time we are to meet Jesus on his Way of the Cross, uncluttered by our usual preoccupations, starkly enforcing us to concentrate on Jesus, and called to walk with him on his Way.

The absence we feel now is in fact a deep sense of Jesus' presence with us. He identifies with us through his own Incarnation, suffering and death. But he underwent that to bring us eternal joy and redemption.

We trace this journey already knowing where it will take us, since Jesus has already won the victory for us. We should keep that in mind as we travel through difficult times. Jesus walks with us always.

Palm Sunday begins with the joyful welcome of Jesus into Jerusalem. We need to hold on to that joy for the difficult days ahead. We should invite Jesus into the city of our hearts as we proclaim: "Hosanna to the King, the Messiah who has come amongst us." This is more than just recalling past events but re-awakening and celebrating in the present Jesus who humbly entered Jerusalem on a donkey.

Later we shall read the Passion narrative, with its menacing, growing darkness. Yet we will see there Jesus' example of service, of self-giving, of sharing that we are all called to imitate, in so many different ways at this time. That is how we make Jesus vividly present in lives so much in need of comfort and support.

So, let us walk with Jesus on this never ending journey that will lead us to glory with him, as he has promised.

Fr Christopher

Holy Week and the Easter Triduum under lockdown!

Surely this will be a very strange experience for those of us so used to heading off to church in Holy Week. The good news is we can watch on the live web-stream from St Joseph's. Spiritual Communion is what we are aspiring to and perhaps it helps us to understand how it feels for those of our community who cannot receive Holy Communion for one reason or another. Due to the circumstances of this lockdown we can receive God's blessing from the comfort of our armchairs. It is, I suppose, a little like the TV programme Gogglebox. You might make comments about what you see and hear but those on the other side of the camera cannot see you!

Fr Andy was, thankfully, quick to anticipate the need and get cameras installed for live-streaming and I am grateful for his generosity, allowing me to celebrate Masses in his church. As he and I celebrate the Triduum together we invite the parishioners of St Joseph's, St Peter's and Our Lady's to gather as a community united by our Catholic Faith.

In Holy Week we can walk the steps of the Via Dolorosa with Jesus at the Stations of the Cross on Monday, Thursday and Friday. There is daily Mass (bar Good Friday). There is a Penitential Service on Tuesday at 7.00 pm. The Easter Triduum is a three-part service spread over three days. We step away on Holy Thursday and Good Friday knowing that the story is unfinished. But we have time to think and reflect. The third day is our Day of Joy. We can participate fully in the Triduum with invention and imagination.

The Mass of the Lord's Supper: In a family where you are not distancing you could wash feet. One person to wash, the other to dry. The washer can kiss the foot. It is very meaningful.

The Passover meal was one eaten in a hurry. We've all had to eat a meal against the clock. What was the Passover? Perhaps a parent might explain it to their child or children. Doing this together is what matters and of course the words of Jesus to his Apostles: "Do this in memory of me". Just writing these words I can feel the tears of sadness that we cannot be together in church. It will be the first time for so many of us not to be in church. So let us try to spend a little time thinking about what that meal meant for Jesus and, in lockdown, what it means for us.

Good Friday. Why Good? This is the question asked by all children. It is a difficult answer at the time of death. This pandemic has seen so many deaths across the world.

Good Friday requires us to be mindful that on this day Jesus was crucified. It is hard to see any good in this process of barbaric cruelty. To help us to understand the sadness and emptiness of sadness and mourning we fast, we reduce our intake of food (refraining from meat and luxuries of any sort). It is a day to reflect how the death of Jesus is the way, the truth and the life.

The sacrifice of Jesus on the cross is the perfect sacrifice. Those sacrifices in the Temple, the sacrificial animal, the lambs, or birds, for the forgiveness of sins, were a sign of repentance but the crucifixion is the perfect offering. Jesus is the sacrificial lamb who takes away the sins of the world. His was a once and for all sacrifice which we remember at every Mass. In memory of what Jesus did for us we eat his body and drink his blood. It is his command that we remember him in this way. His body and blood is the bread of angels, the food that gives us eternal life. Good Friday is the stark memory of the sacrifice of Christ. It is a sacrifice which saves us, a sacrifice which takes away the sins of the world.

Holy Saturday will be very strange day for priests this year. Usually we see a busy day with many helpers preparing the church. Spring flowers, yellow and white, the colour of new life, take over as the purple drapes are removed from the statues and altar. Our churches seems to come alive with a vibrant glow of expectation and hope. The Easter candle is removed from its box. Into it the priests will press the five incense grains which signify the five glorious wounds of Christ. There are also the symbols Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. Jesus was there at the beginning of time, He will come in Judgement at the end of the world. Lumen Christi the priest sings three times (The Light of Christ). Deo Gratias the people reply (Thanks be to God). The Easter Vigil is not a quick Mass but it is the most meaningful. It begins with the light of Christ entering the darkness of the world. You can re-enact this moment at home. Sit in darkness (or low light) and then lighting candles to welcome the light. It is a very visual moment. Listen to the readings as they tell the story of our salvation and feel the sense of joy welling up inside.

Share the service, it won't be quite as long as usual. Share in the communion. Have glass of wine after Mass. And don't forget the Easter eggs. This Holy Week is a great opportunity for us to get back to God in a way that perhaps we haven't done for years. Opportunities like this don't come along very often. Of course there will be competition from films and TV favourites but these can be watched in playback. This year we must profess our faith in lockdown. Show it matters by giving it the time. Faith is like that mustard seed which grows into something enormous when the conditions are right. We never regret the time we give to God. Deo Gratias!
