Global Prayer for an Inflicted World Community

In the gospel of St Luke, Jesus places a special emphasis on the necessity to pray “always without becoming weary”, offering encouragement that “God will answer prayer made to Him day and night” (Lk 18: 1-8). Many people of all ages have become weary these past fifteen months. That is so understandable. There is the weariness that accompanies chronic illness and disability, a tiredness that we are sometimes reluctant to acknowledge. A weariness that results from being alone and separated from people. Even a weariness with life itself. A similar weariness can result from prayer, made over a lengthy period without the realisation of the hoped-for effect. Even the wonderful experience of Mass can become ‘routine’. And we can think that we should not be feeling like that!

We must refuse to be ashamed by these feelings. They but reveal our human frailty. The speedy response to the Covid 19 vaccine can delude us into a false sense of attainment, that we can ‘go it alone’, that we can now continue to pretend. We may, perhaps, begin praying with the enthusiasm of a novice, only sometimes to tire over time. I am very familiar with that experience. It is for this reason that occasionally we need encouragement to go on and to persevere in prayer, especially when it appears to be unanswered prayer.

The time of pandemic has deeply affected our lives. So many lives are marked by grief. So many relationships have been severely tested, fractured, even broken. Many experience(d) fear and uncertainty during the crisis. We prefer to conceal our real emotions, perhaps to appear ‘ok’, as we long, in our deepest heart of hearts, for release to a more ‘normal’ life. There is much hidden pain in individuals and in communities, surely in you and in me as well.

Previous cultures, perhaps more ‘religious’ and less rational than that of 21C people, turned more easily to God. Many would wish now for God to prove to be irrelevant. Yet, I suggest that our ‘new normal’ must really embrace that aspect of our humanity that acknowledges human limitations and frailty. In a word, we must ‘return’ to prayer, to a “reaching out to the transcendent” God. This ‘God’ knows our needs – it is for us just to acknowledge these needs and our incapacity to nourish them fully.

Perhaps this is what prompted Pope Francis to invite us to prayer, in the form of the Rosary, during the month of May, in union with those who pray at Marion Shrines throughout the world, for the specific intention of imploring God to release this world from the Covid 19 pandemic. We must never be afraid or shy to ask. Yet, a pandemic is such that, while it invites individual prayers, it also embraces unified prayer on a global basis. What might just happen if every Catholic prayed the Rosary every day during May 2021? And if a ‘full’ Rosary is too much to begin with, why not begin with one decade, prayed reflectively and quietly?

Pope Francis invites our focus on one specific group of people daily, as outlined in the weekly timetable below. I acknowledge here that I sometimes find the Rosary difficult – and even tedious - to pray but I will try this May to pray it daily. Focussing on one specific group I know will be a great help to me and, when you are included in one of these groups, you will be in my prayer. Please include me in yours as well.

Will you, then, join with me and Pope Francis and so many other people around the world this month of May 2021?

You are aware now that we are deprived of the sacraments during the pandemic. While this will continue for some time yet, we must nevertheless prepare for the reception of the sacraments. Preparation for each sacrament will be conducted on line. This pandemic can really be a new God-given invitation to approach our traditional practices in an altogether new and life-giving way.

Prayer List – Would You Like Any Amendments Or Additions?

It is important in these difficult times that we think and pray for those dear to us and allow our community to pray for them as well. If you have any amendments to the Prayer List that you would like me to make, please do get in touch either with myself, by using the contact details at the top of the newsletter, or with Loretta at lkpcurtis@hotmail.com.

Please let me know, also, of any family anniversaries - we would love to share our prayers with you on that day.
